ONLY ALL-RAIL ROUTECARDINALS PLAY ST. STEPHEN'S

Alexandria Team Has Few Open Dates.

Alexandria, Va., April 12.—The Cardinal Athletic Club will play the St. Stephen's team of Washington on the old North Alfred street grounds Saturday afternoon, at 4:40 o'clock.

The Cardinals have one of the strongest teams in this city, having a number of old stars. Among the team's latest acquisitions is Edward Hayden, Alexandria's Ty Cobb, one of the best all-around players, who will play in Saturday's game.

Announcement is made by the Cardinals that they have some open dates which they would like to have filled by teams in Washington and vicinity. All challenges should be addressed to John Schofield, 318 Cameron street, Alexandria, Va.

OFFICIALS OF COURTS WILL BE INVITED

Expected to Attend Reception to Our Legislators.

Members of all the courts of the District, including the United States Supreme Court and the United States Court of Appeals, will be invited to the Chamber of Commerce-Board of Trade reception to Congress at the New Willard April 27. Invitations will be issued to-day. The affair is expected to bring together the largest and most representative gathering of Washington officialdom since the last inaugural ball.

The resignation of John B. Larnier, who was elected a director of the Board of Trade at the annual election, but who has been unable to serve because of business, was reluctantly accepted at yesterday's meeting of the executive committee. Resolutions of regret at Mr. Larnier's action were passed.

Eight new members were elected by the executive committee of the Board of Trade. They are Clarence Dodge, O. Raymond Evans, Lewis Flemer, Charles R. Hart, Arthur M. Poynton, Francis M. Shore, Charles A. Watson, and Robinson White.

The marked interest members of the board are taking in the coming shadowy and river outing, June 2, was indicated by a large attendance at last night's meeting of the committee.

CANADIAN TREATY COMES UP TO-DAY

House Will Pass the Measure Within Next Four Days.

The Canadian agreement will come up for consideration in the House to-day. Debate on it will probably be concluded Tuesday or Wednesday of next week, when the agreement will be passed and transferred to the Senate. Then plans will be made for passing the free list bill. The indications are that it will be made the order of business immediately following action on the trade agreement.

The House Committee on Ways and Means yesterday favorably reported both bills to the House. Representative McCall, of Massachusetts, who introduced and fathered the reciprocity bill in the last Congress, made the motion that the Underwood measure be favorably reported. This was done without the formality of a division.

The farmers' free list bill was reported out by a strict party vote, the Republicans basing their formal opposition to this action on the ground that the tariff board had not yet made its report on the articles in the list which it is proposed to place on the free list, and that the proposed action of the Democrats was unjust and ill-advised.

After the House met at noon, Mr. Henry reported the measure on the floor. By unanimous consent, Mr. Dalzell was given leave to file a minority report at any time up to the passage of the bill. Reciprocity will be taken up to-day and should be passed in two days.

BODY AT MONESSEN, PA., MAY BE THAT OF GRAY

Police Anxiously Await Arrival of Picture of Dead Man This Morning—Discrepancy in the Height.

A telegram from the police of Monessen, Pa., stating that an elderly man who had died in a hotel there yesterday answered the description of Dr. William A. Gray, the aged retired druggist of this city, who has been missing since March 1, is the first indication that the 3,000 circulars which were sent broadcast may effect the clearing up of a mystery that has baffled the police of this city.

A discrepancy in the height of Dr. Gray and that of the body at Monessen leads the officials of this city and the missing man's relatives to believe that the body at Monessen is not that of Dr. Gray.

The telegram announced that the body there answers the description of that of Dr. Gray with the exception that the body was that of a man five feet eleven inches in height, while the description of Dr. Gray in the circular gives his height as five feet six inches. According to the telegram, the dead man's clothes were marked "A. Lewis," and he wore a No. 19 celluloid collar.

In answer to a telegram sent from police headquarters in this city a second wire was received from the Monessen police stating that a picture of the man supposed to be Dr. Gray would be forwarded by special delivery letter. The letter will probably reach Washington this morning, and is being awaited with interest by the police.

George H. Chick, son-in-law of Dr. Gray, said last night he was gratified to learn of any information the circulars brought, but he was sure the body at Monessen was not that of Dr. Gray.

"Dr. Gray was only five feet six inches in height," he said, "and for this reason I am confident they are wrong. I still have hope, however, that the 3,000 circulars will bring results. The picture of Dr. Gray on the pamphlet is nearly a perfect likeness."

There is a reward of $300 for any information leading to the discovery of Dr. Gray.

CHAMPAGNE RIOTS COME TO END IN DISTRICTS

Epernay, France, April 12.—Owing to the prompt action of civil and military authorities, quiet reigned to-night in the district of Marne, where last night scenes of pillage, blazing wine cellars, and storehouses, and wild disorder were witnessed. Fifteen thousand troops are distributed throughout the Marne Valley, and the wine growers are quietly awaiting the action of the council of state, to which the issue has been referred by Premier Monie.

Later last night the Chamber of Deputies adopted a resolution nullifying the action of the senate in deciding to suppress the delimitation of the champagne districts.

The wine growers are disclaiming participation in the rioting of yesterday. They declare the wine cellars were fired by thieves and vandals. The more outrageous acts of anarchy, they maintain, were committed by outlaws who worked under the name of the Wine Growers' League, an organization that gave no official countenance to the uprising.

The countryside presented a dismal scene at dawn to-day. The sky was dark with the smoke from smoldering ruins of wine establishments, vast vineyards lay in waste, and scattered over wide areas were broken barrels and cases and thousands of cases of champagne bottles.

What attempts were made to-day to carry on the work of destruction were promptly put down by the troops. The most stubborn opposition was encountered at Vinay, where the women stood at the head of the mobs and defied the cavalrymen to attack them, some of them throwing themselves to the ground at the horses' feet and daring the soldiers to ride over them.

CHURCH SERVICES FOR GOOD FRIDAY

Lenten Season Will Close in Fitting Observance.

Good Friday, one of the most solemn days in the religious year, will be celebrated to-day all over the civilized world, where the story of Christ and the supreme tragedy are known.

For the last two score days all Washington has observed the Lenten season in a fitting manner. With the completion of to-day's services Holy Week observances will practically end until the glad anthems ringing out from the churches usher in the glorious Easter.

In the Catholic churches, on this day the celebration of the mass is omitted and the passion of Christ is sung in the morning to depict the hours of suffering that He endured during the last hours of His crucifixion. The unveiling of the cross and the adoration ceremony will take place. At St. Aloysius Church "The Seven Last Words" will be sung, and a series of sermons on the passion and death of Christ will be delivered. Stations of the cross will be read later, and tenebrae will be repeated in all Catholic churches in the evening.

In the Protestant churches the same expression of the devotion and sentiment to Christ will be exhibited.

It is probable that President Taft and his family will attend All Souls' Church, where Rev. Dr. Ulysses G. B. Pierce, Chaplain of the Senate, is pastor.

Clear weather is predicted for Easter Sunday.

TAYLOR DEPLORES GREED FOR RICHES

Addresses Masons in Banquet at Temple.

"The greatest danger to our country does not lie in war with other nations, or in the political and social problems of to-day, but in the wild desire of the people to accumulate wealth."

This assertion was made by Senator Robert L. Taylor, of Tennessee, at the Mainway Thursday banquet of the Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite, last night, in the Cathedral, Third and E streets northwest.

Senator Taylor said that when his term in the Senate expired he intended retiring to his farm in Tennessee and live away from the greed and craze for gold found in the city.

Others who responded to toasts were J. Claude Keiper, grand master of Masons, District of Columbia, George F. Moore, and Senator Robert L. Owen, of Oklahoma. A toast was drunk in silence in memory of Albert Pike.

Among those present were James D. Richardson, George F. Moore, Sterling Kerr, Elmer C. Simpson, Allen B. Russett, Jacobus Jones, Edward H. Droop, Louis Goldsmith, Francis J. Woodman, Harrison Dinman, E. P. Morey, Samuel Gompers, George R. Davis, James Lansburgh, and others.

After the House met at noon, Mr. Henry reported the measure on the floor. By unanimous consent, Mr. Dalzell was given leave to file a minority report at any time up to the passage of the bill. Reciprocity will be taken up to-day and should be passed in two days.
